

MISS KATHERINE WICK KELLY

IN

“MONSIEUR BEAUCAIRE”

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

A ROMANTIC COMEDY IN THREE PARTS

Part I

RED ROSES

“I wish you dreams of roses, red roses, only beautiful red, red roses.”

Part II

BLOOD RED ROSES

The handkerchief he had held against his side dropped into the white dust, a heavy red splotch.

Part III

WITHERED ROSE LEAVES

From somewhere about the garments of one of them a little cloud of faded rose leaves fell, and lay strewn on the floor behind them.

THE EDITH COBURN NOYES STUDIOS

A School of Expression

Personal Culture

Professional Training

Symphony Chambers
246 Huntington Avenue
Boston, Massachusetts

Miss Katherine Wick Kelly
Associate Teacher

